

Deer Boundary Garden

About the Garden

—A realistic form of coexistence created by letting go of perfect exclusion.

It is a "boundary garden" that gently separates the wild from people.

And the generosity of turning a blind eye to some things.

As deer food damage becomes more serious nationwide, this garden proposes a way of "boundary" that gently separates people and nature.

With the help of nature such as repellent plants, scent, sound, and light, we aimed to create a relaxing space where people can feel healed with all five senses, while informing deer that this is not a feeding ground.

Not exclusion, but a subtle sense of distance. Deer are allowed to visit, but measures are taken so they cannot eat.

You can also feel the fun of walking around by visiting different spaces such as the forest atmosphere, fragrant lawn, and nursery area.

Megumu Mitsuishi
- Cottage Garden Co., Ltd.

Profile

After graduating from Senshu University Hokkaido Junior College's Department of Landscape and Forestry, she gained practical experience in park construction and maintenance. She then joined Cottage Garden Ltd., working in flower seedling production, sales, and garden construction. Currently, she handles plant-based scenic design and landscape installation at national sites like Takino Suzuran Hillside Park and Upopoy.

This marks her first entry into a garden design contest.

---

Sponsors      Hakusan Co., Ltd. (Material Support)
Seeking sponsors

---

Contractors      Nakamura Ryokuchi Kensetsu Co., Ltd.

---

Relocation site      Now seeking